

They wanted to be like him. He is an example of how we should live. And that is why he became a saint.

To this day people say that St. Nicholas, is the special friend of children.

—Carol Myers, St. Nicholas Center
Copyright © 2015 www.stnicholascenter.org

About the Treats:

In your bag today, you have a clementine and three chocolate coins to remind you of the story of the three daughters. The candy cane is to remind you that St. Nicholas was a bishop who was a shepherd to his people.

Family Challenge:

Sometime during this season, I challenge you and your family to engage in anonymous giving for someone in need. Maybe it is contributing food to a food drive or a toy to a toy drive. Maybe it is adopting an angel from and angel tree. Maybe it is sending a card to someone who is lonely. Whatever you choose, you are carrying on the tradition of St. Nicholas during this holy season.

--Pastor Breen
Tri-Saints Lutheran Parish,
Byron and Hardy, NE

The Story of St. Nicholas

St. Nicholas lived a long time ago in a place called Asia Minor. It is now the country of Turkey.

Nicholas' parents died when he was just a teenager. His parents left him a lot of money which made him a rich young man. He went to live with his uncle who was a priest.

Nicholas heard about a man who had lost all his money. He had three daughters who were old enough to get married.

But in those days young women had to have money in order to get married. This money was a "dowry" and it was used to help the new family get started. If you didn't have dowry money, you didn't get married.

This family was so poor they had nothing left to eat. The daughters were going to be sold as slaves because they couldn't live at home any longer. They were very sad. They wouldn't be able to have families of their own. And they would have to be slaves—no longer able to decide where they would live or what they would do.

The night before the oldest daughter was to be sold, she washed her stockings and put them in front of the fire to dry.

Then all of them went to sleep—the father and the three daughters. In the morning the daughter saw a lump in her stocking.

Reaching in, she found a small, heavy bag. It had gold inside! It was enough to provide food for the family and money for her dowry. Oh, how happy they were! The next morning, another bag with gold was found. Imagine! Two of the daughters would now be saved. Such joy!

And the next night, the father planned to stay awake to find out who was helping his daughters. He dozed off, but heard a small "clink" as another bag landed in the room. Quickly he jumped up and ran out the door. Who did he catch ducking around the corner?

It was Nicholas, the young man who lived with his uncle. "Nicholas, it is you! Thank you for helping us—I hardly know what to say!" Nicholas said, "Please, do not thank me—thank God that your prayers have been answered. Do not tell others about me."

Nicholas continued helping people. He always tried to help secretly. He didn't want any attention or thanks. Years passed and he was chosen to be a bishop. Bishops look after their people as shepherds look after their sheep. And that is what Nicholas did. When there wasn't any food, he found wheat; so no one went hungry. He always helped people in trouble. All his life Nicholas showed people how to love God and care for each other.

Everyone loved Nicholas. After he died, they told stories of the good and kind things Nicholas had done. Sailors took these stories about Nicholas everywhere they went. Some of the stories were about his special care for children—helping and protecting them when danger threatened. And so more and more people learned about good, kind Nicholas.